No, it's hands down, THE favorite! I saw this at Borders and it was 27.99. I bought it online for 10 dollars less. It has tabbed dividers: Breads/Brownies Bars/Cakes Cupcakes/Cookies/Muffins Quick Breads/Pies Tarts/Cobblers Crisps/Holiday Favorites. Each tab has a pocket and an awesome "food" quote. The inside cover boasts a conversion chart and the back cover is contains a substitution chart. There are recipe cards, but I took these out because most of the recipes I have I print out using the computer. I simply popped them in sheet protectors and placed them in the binder. It's quite sturdy and the design makes me smile each time I look at it. I absolutely adore it. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great organizer! By Laurie M. A friend gave me the Recipe Keeper (red one) as a birthday gift to help me get my stacks of recipes from magazines and hand written on pieces of paper organized. It worked so well, that I decided to purchase the Baker's one, as I love to bake. With the divisions it helps me keep all my recipes easy to locate. I actually use the pages to just tape my hand written or cut out recipes onto. I can then take the page out of the binder and prop up or tape to my cabinet above me as I bake. Love it!!3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Grandmas treasured family recipesBy 1ThandA Baker's Recipe Keeper: An Organizer for Your Favorite Desserts and BreadsI bought this recipe keeper for my daughters Grandma. Grandma is an amazing baker that gives any store bought item a run for the money. A particular German sweet bread that she made prior to the holidays to be sent off to her Grandson Mike who is over seas serving his country was soooooo amazing I told her I wanted the recipe. She told me it was a very old family recipe. She made more of this delicious bread 2 weeks later were she invited me to watch her bake. I was honored. When she brought out this small faded barley readable piece of paper I was scared. Really, I thought don't spill anything on it this yummy timeless recipe it will be gone forever. So I jumped my computer that night and found the Baker's Recipe Keeper on . It was an Awesome Christmas gift! She told me she stayed up until 4 in in the morning organizing copying and sorting the hundreds of recipes she has accumulated in her 75 years of life. Well now we can rest easy for Grandma's recipes will live on for many generations to come.

Life is unsure, always eat your dessert first. -Anon How many times have you clipped a recipe from a newspaper or magazine for a fabulous dessert, or printed it off the Internet and then "lost" it in a drawer? Welcome's charming new A Baker's Recipe Keeper is designed to be the perfect place to collect and hold the recipes for all your favorite sweets or most successful breads.
