Really enjoy the on line version more than the paper version. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Big Beer Journalism By David A. Raymond Jr. I've had these calendars since 2011, and while they're fun, they're also instructive for the beer taster and home brewer. Amahl goes to great lengths to describe aroma, flavor, palate, and sometimes references the brewing method used to render all this magic. The 2013 calendar has informed food pairings and interesting trivia as well. If you want bar jokes, look elsewhere.

Beer lovers rejoice! Die-cut into the shape of a beer stein and spilling over with brew reviews, trivia, and more beer-related fun, this calendar fills every day of the year with cheer. Open a bottle of Full Sail Brewing Company's Hop Pursuit, beautifully balanced with strong hops up front and a light malt sweetness mid-palate. Redhook's Classic Eisbock, rich with dried plum, toffee, and malt flavors (and ultra smooth despite a whopping 11% alcohol content). Plus Miraculous Moments in Beer History, the Birth of the Microbrew, the Biggest Beer-Drinking Countries in the World, pairings, recipes, trivia, and quotes: "Give my people plenty of beer, good beer and cheap beer, and you will have no revolution among them"; (Queen Victoria).
