In their fantastic new book, hundreds of Irish women from the Irish Countrywoman's Association share their practical tips, short cuts, and precious first-hand experience on how to make a house a home.

About the AuthorFounded in May 1910, the aim of the ICA was 'to improve the standard of life in rural Ireland through education and co-operative effort'. Today the ICA has 700 local Guilds in cities, towns and rural areas throughout Ireland. They continue to offer support and fun as well as opportunities to make friends, learn new skills and contribute to the wider community. Every day, the women share with each other nuggets of advice, tried-and-tested methods and practical help, and they hope this book will pass on some of that knowledge to you.
