But I would hardly consider it a great book for authentic Italian recipes. The cookie section is the strongest of all the chapters if you are looking for authentic recipes. Many of these are just regular recipes not even related to Italy. Or put a very very very slight Italian spin with one ingredient to make it seem Italian. I am returning the book 8 of 8 people found the following review helpful. Same book as Dinner with a Baker By Andrew's Mom I love this book but it is the same book as Dinner with a Baker by the same author! Now I have two. needs to make sure the publishers add in the description when they change the name that the book is a reprint. Same

Dolci Di Casa has pastry chef Pino Locantro share his award-winning recipes, drawing from his Italian background and favorites from his family gourmet delicatessen/cafe, Locantro, a family-owned and run neighbourhood business started by his parents 16 years ago. Pino's pastries sell out on most days and the cheesecake has won numerous Fine Food awards. On Fridays and Saturdays the freshly baked sourdough bread also brings customers in droves.

About the AuthorPino Locantro has been a pastry chef for more than 20 years. He and his brother, Adriano, own a busy caf? and patisserie where loyal customers queue every day for his delicious, award-winning pastries, cakes, pies and sweet treats. Pino has won many silver and bronze medals at various Show. He also is a trained pastry chef..
